- 2345 Speculum Humanæ Salvationis, PRINTED FROM WOODEN BLOCKS, cum figuris, ligno incis, blue morocco 3/5
Note.—This is the FIRST EDITION of the Latin Publication under the above name; and seems conformable to the designation of it given by Heineken, at page 444 of his Idée Generale, &c. It is, in consequence, exceedingly curious; as presenting a specimen of a very early printed book, of which a third part is ex-executed from BLOCKS, both in the cuts and the type: of the remaining two third parts, the cuts are uniformly executed in wood, and the text is printed from metal types. The fac simile which Heinecken has given of the first two cuts, and of part of the text, is very much inferior to the original: an inference, which Heinecken himself is compelled to admit.

2346 Speculum Humanæ Salvationis, Belgice,
cum figuris ligno incisus, red morocco

Note.—Meerman has been more fortunate in his fac-simile of the first two cuts of this impression, than Heinecken in those of the preceding one. The fac-simile of the type is, however, much inferior in strength and proportion. The cuts are all executed upon wood; and worked off, like the previous ones, in bistre-coloured ink. The type is uniformly metal, and the ink very black.
